Agriculture, Community aid schemes: integrated administrative and control system IACS (amend. Regul. 3508/92/EEC)

1996/0122(CNS) - 25/09/1996

A report by Mr Salvador GARRIGA POLLEDO on a regulation establishing an integrated administrative and control system for certain Community aid schemes arising out of the CAP reform was adopted by the Committee on Budgetary Control. The controls essentially cover land areas and livestock herds. One of the two amendments adopted requires Member States to set up, as from 1 January 1998, central databases for registering not only the identification number, sex, breed and date of birth of animals but also all movements of livestock. The Commission is asked to report by the beginning of 1997 and thereafter annually on the effectiveness of the integrated system and the degree to which all Member States succeed in achieving a similar level of protection for the Community's financial interests.
