Environment: official statistics (four-year programme 1993-1996)

1990/0531(SYN) - 11/02/1992 - Text adopted by Parliament, 1st reading/single reading

(Rapport AMENDOLA - doc. A3-271/91) A la quasi unanimité, le Parlement a adopté le rapport de M. Gianfranco AMENDOLA(Verts, I) sur les statistiques officielles sur l'environnement en demandant quele réseau CORINE soit chapeauté par Eurostat en attendant que l'Agence européenne de l'environnement voie le jour. The Parliament approved the Commission's proposal subject to a compromise amendment to Article 2(1). Parliament called for the programme to be coordinated by EUROSTAT pending the setting up of the European Environment Agency and for the CORINE staff currently employed in the task force for the Environment Agency to cooperate with EUROSTAT as regards the use of the CORINE information network. In addition, Parliament wants to avoid needless overlapping with the activities of the European Environment Agency.

1990/0531(SYN) - 08/06/1994 - Council position

The Council common position incorporates the main thrust of the European Parliament's position, i.e. the need for proper coordination of the official statistics development programme with the European Environment Agency and the CORINE programme managed by the Agency. The respective roles have been described and the coordination procedures specified. In addition, the Council has introduced a number of new elements by specifying the legal basis (130S), including a programme to develop the environmental component of official statistics as a specific project under the framework programme for priority action in the field of statistics 1993-1997, clarifying the contribution which official statistics departments can make to environmental information, endeavouring to minimize the costs of replies, taking account of the need for statistics to be kept confidential, detailing the nature of the Commission's powers in implementing and adapting the programme of work, introducing a more precise procedure for coordination with the European Environment Agency and changing the advisory committee to a legislative committee (type III a).

Environment: official statistics (four-year programme 1993-1996)

1990/0531(SYN) - 15/12/1994 - Final act

The Council decision sets up a four-year development programme (1994-1997) to develop regular official statistics which can be used to compile information for the Community environmental policy and its interactions with other Community policies. - The objective of the programme is to develop the environmental component in Community statistics, so as to provide sets of regular figures on the environment which will be integrated into other official statistics to which all Member States will have access; - Community statistics will mainly be used in the following areas: extraction and consumption of raw materials, production and consumption of agricultural and industrial products, energy production and consumption, building and housing, tourism and leisure, transport, demography, households and welfare, public services. - The programme includes: methodological, conceptual and practical studies, experimental surveys, data collection and dissemination. - The programme will be coordinated with the help of the European Environment Agency. - The Commission will be assisted by the EC committee on statistics programmes. - The Commission will report to the European Parliament and the Council by July 1997.

1990/0531(SYN) - 20/11/1992 - Modified legislative proposal

The Commission included 11 of the 23 amendments adopted by the European Parliament, in particular those stressing the need for close coordination and a clear relationship between the statistical programme, the European Environment Agency and the Corine programme (although the amendments specifically referring to this programme were rejected as being irrelevant in the current situation).
