Regulation 1995/2505
OJ L 258 28.10.1995, p. 0001 Summary

Improvement of the Community production of peaches and nectarines

1995/0018(CNS) - 20/03/1995 - Legislative proposal

The withdrawal of peach and nectarine production has increased considerably in certain regions of the European Union. The measures for grubbing-up being put forward in this proposal for a regulation are aimed at improving the way in which supply is adapted to demand. The measures being proposed are similar to those which have been taken for apples and provide for premiums for grubbing-up, which are to apply for the 1995 marketing year, to be paid for peach and nectarine trees at the producers' request.. The measures for grubbing-up shall apply to orchards composed of trees less than 15 years old and having a density of more than 300 trees per hectare.

Improvement of the Community production of peaches and nectarines

1995/0018(CNS) - 24/10/1995

The Council adopted, by a qualified majority with the United Kingdom delegation voting against, the Regulation on the improvement of the Community production of peaches and nectarines. Given the considerable quantity of peaches and nectarines withdrawn (and destroyed) because production does not match demand, the Regulation provides for a grubbing premium, to be paid only once, for the 1995 marketing year, to producers who undertake to abandon production of those fruits.

Improvement of the Community production of peaches and nectarines

1995/0018(CNS) - 24/10/1995 - Final act

- OBJECTIVE: to introduce premiums for grubbing-up, to apply for the 1995 marketing year, for producers who undertake to give up peach and nectarine production, in order to adapt production capacity to the current and foreseeable market for Community output. - COMMUNITY MEASURE: Council Regulation (EC) No 2505/95 on the improvement of the Community production of peaches and nectarines. - SUBSTANCE: * Community producers of peaches and nectarines receive, at their request, a single premium for grubbing-up peach and nectarine trees during the 1995 marketing year; * The granting of a premium is dependent on the beneficiary giving a commitment in writing: . to carry out in a single action, and before 30.04.1996, the grubbing-up of: all peach and nectarine trees in his peach and nectarine orchard, if the latter is less than 1.5 hectares in area; all or part of his orchard if the latter is 1.5 hectares or more in area; . to give up all planting of peach trees, nectarine trees and apple trees other than cider-apple trees; * The measures for grubbing-up apply to all orchards composed of trees less than 20 years old and having a density of more than 300 trees per hectare. * The measures are considered as actions designed to regulate the agricultural markets; they are to be financed through the EAGGF Guarantee Section; * ENTRY INTO FORCE: 31.10.1995.

Improvement of the Community production of peaches and nectarines

1995/0018(CNS) - 13/10/1995 - Text adopted by Parliament, 1st reading/single reading

In adopting the report by Mr MARTIN, Parliament approved the proposal for a regulation with the following amendments: - for the premium to be granted, grubbing-up must take place before 30.04.1996 and on condition that the entire orchard is grubbed-up if its surface area is less than one hectare. If the orchard is more than one hectare in area, only part of it (or if necessary all of it) has to be grubbed-up (but the area grubbed-up must correspond to one hectare at least); - the orchard must be composed of 250 trees per hectare (and not 300) and the trees must not necessarily be 15 years old. In the case of partial grubbing-up, those plots which have already been entitled to grants will no longer be eligible for this premium; - producers will not be required to give up planting apple trees other than cider-apple trees; - the Commission will lay down the conditions of eligibility for this premium, which must take effect by way of an actual reduction in the production of peaches and nectarines; - the measures provided for by this regulation must become a full part of the next reform of the COM for fruit and vegetables and an extension of one year might be considered if the objectives for grubbing-up are not realized in certain Member States, particularly due to administrative difficulties; - the Commission's inspection programme is strengthened.
