Final act

Directive 1997/0022
OJ L 113 30.04.1997, p. 0009 Summary

Animals and products of animal origin: protection against specified zoonoses (amend. Direct. 92/117/EEC)

1995/0255(CNS) - 22/04/1997 - Final act

OBJECTIVE: to improve protection against certain zoonoses and zoonotic agents. COMMUNITY MEASURE: Council Directive 97/22/EC amending Directive 92/117/EEC concerning measures for protection against specified zoonoses and specified zoonotic agents in animals and products of animal origin in order to prevent outbreaks of food-borne infections and intoxications. SUBSTANCE: the purpose of the amendment was to extend certain time-limits laid down in Directive 92/117/EEC in order to permit more comprehensive study of the additional Community-wide measures required to prevent zoonoses posing a danger to human health. The time-limits relate specifically to: - new rules for the reporting system for zoonoses, - the sampling methods and examinations to be developed and carried out, - implementation and approval of certain national measures and submission and approval of plans submitted by third countries. ENTRY INTO FORCE: 03/05/1997 DEADLINE FOR TRANSPOSITION: 01/09/1997

Animals and products of animal origin: protection against specified zoonoses (amend. Direct. 92/117/EEC)

1995/0255(CNS) - 23/10/1995 - Legislative proposal

OBJECTIVE: to review certain provisions of Directive 92/117/EEC concerning measures for protection against specified zoonoses and specified zoonotic agents in animals and products of animal origin pending the in-depth review of the Directive concerned. SUBSTANCE: It is proposed to extend certain time limits laid down in Directive 92/117/EEC concerning: - the provisions relating to the new rules for the reporting system for zoonoses; - the sampling methods to be developed and the examinations to be carried out; - the implementation and approval of certain national measures together with the presentation and approval of plans submitted by third countries.

Animals and products of animal origin: protection against specified zoonoses (amend. Direct. 92/117/EEC)

1995/0255(CNS) - 01/02/1996 - Economic and Social Committee: opinion, report

The Committee notes that Directive 92/117/EEC has proved difficult to implement in a number of Member States, and supports the Commission's intention to carry out a thorough review of it. The ESC points out its interest in control and protection against zoonoses, and asks that the Committee be consulted on the proposed new Directive in due course.

Animals and products of animal origin: protection against specified zoonoses (amend. Direct. 92/117/EEC)

1995/0255(CNS) - 20/09/1996 - Text adopted by Parliament, 1st reading/single reading

In adopting the report by Mr Jean-Claude MARTINEZ (NI, F), on protection against specified zoonoses, Parliament affirmed the need to recognize the concept of potential zoonoses and to include therein BSE. The amendments adopted by Parliament aim at: - enlarging the scope of the basic directive to include specified zoonoses and zoonotic agents (parasites, viruses, bacteria, etc.); - establishing a distinction between 'known zoonoses' (e.g. salmonellosis, foot-and-mouth disease, rabies) and potential zoonoses (diseases which could be transmitted from animals to man) with a view to including therein BSE.
