Civil aviation: repealing an obsolete directive

2022/0282(COD) - 01/12/2022 - Committee report tabled for plenary, 1st reading/single reading

The Committee on Transport and Tourism adopted the report by Karima DELLI (Greens/EFA, FR) on the proposal for a decision of the European Parliament and of the Council repealing Council Directive 89/629/EEC.

The committee recommended that the European Parliament adopt its position at first reading, taking over the Commission proposal.

This proposal aims at repealing Council Directive 89/629/EEC.

Council Directive 89/629/EEC allowed certain noisy planes to continue their operations, despite exceeding the noise norms at the time, on the condition that they had been registered by a Member State prior to the Directive's entry into force. At the same time, the Directive disallowed new registrations of this kind of aircraft.

In 2006, the European Parliament and the Council adopted Directive 2006/93/EC, which introduced a complete phase - out for all aircraft not meeting the relevant noise emission standards, including those previously covered by Directive 89/629/EEC. The current proposal aims at repealing the Council Directive 89/629, which has become obsolete.

Civil aviation: repealing an obsolete directive

2022/0282(COD) - 16/09/2022 - Legislative proposal

PURPOSE: to repeal Council Directive 89/629/EEC on the limitation of noise emissions from civil subsonic jet aeroplanes.

PROPOSED ACT: Decision of the European Parliament and of the Council.

ROLE OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT: the European Parliament decides in accordance with the ordinary legislative procedure and on an equal footing with the Council.

BACKGROUND: Council Directive 89/629/EEC allowed the continued operation of certain aeroplanes exceeding relevant noise emission standards, provided that they had already been entered in a national register of a Member State. No new registrations of such aeroplanes were allowed after the entry into force of the Directive.

Directive 2006/93/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council introduced a complete phasing-out for all aeroplanes which did not meet the relevant noise emission standards, including those previously covered by Directive 89/629/EEC, regardless of whether they had already been registered or not. That has led to the situation where the aeroplanes concerned are no longer allowed to fly in the Union skies and have had to be removed from the Member States' national registers.

As the 1989 rule allowing the registration of non-compliant aircraft already on a national register was replaced in 2006 by the approach of phasing out non-compliant aircraft from national registers, and as a result no non-compliant aircraft are allowed to fly in EU airspace, Council Directive 89/629/EEC has become obsolete.

CONTENT: The Commission proposes to repeal Directive 89/629/EEC.

The proposal is submitted under the Commission's REFIT programme and its commitment to better regulation. The aim is to provide a legislative framework that is fit for purpose and of high quality, as set out in the Interinstitutional Agreement between the European Parliament, the Council of the European Union and the European Commission on Better Law-Making.

Civil aviation: repealing an obsolete directive

2022/0282(COD) - 13/12/2022 - Text adopted by Parliament, 1st reading/single reading

The European Parliament adopted by 624 votes to 2, with 5 abstentions, a legislative resolution on the proposal for a decision of the European Parliament and of the Council repealing Council Directive 89/629/EEC.

The European Parliament adopted its position at first reading by taking over the Commission's proposal.

The proposed Regulation aims at repealing Directive 89/629/EEC.

It is recalled that Council Directive 89/629/EEC provided that aeroplanes that exceeded the relevant noise emission standards under that Directive could continue to operate, if they had already been entered in a national register of a Member State. However, it applied a no-addition rule: no new registrations of such aeroplanes were possible after that Directive entered into force.

Directive 2006/93/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council introduced a complete phasing-out of all aeroplanes which did not meet the relevant noise emission standards, including those previously covered by Directive 89/629/EEC, regardless of whether they had been registered or not. This led to a situation in which the aeroplanes concerned were no longer allowed to fly in the Union skies and had to be removed from the Member States' national registers.

Consequently, Directive 89/629/EEC is obsolete.
